Folding chairs that are actually comfortable

In a small house folding chairs are a boon when lots of people arrive. These chairs fit the bill perfectly as they are very comfortable. The plastic seats and back have just the right amount of flexibility to provide support and adapt to the shape of the sitter.

They also fold into a smaller space than our other folding chairs and I am keeping them in the sturdy shipping box when they are not in use.

Pros: Comfortable, Excellent Quality, Looks Great, Sturdy, stores in small space

Very comfortable. Seats are a bit wider. The material is durable and ventilated so you don't get too warm when sitting for a long time or outside. Our extended family owns quite a few sets and we've received many compliments. Very well worth the investment.

Very Comfortable

I am very pleased with the quality of these folding chairs. They are a bit of a price jump from the "standard" white cosco model that everyone seems to have, but they are clearly a step up in quality.

Firstly, they look quite a bit nicer than the "standard" folding chairs. They look quite a bit classier than due to the all black finish, contours, and diamond "mesh" seat.

The construction is solid. The frames are painted steel. The feet have plastic caps to prevent scratching the floor and to keep water off of the steel frame. The seats and backs are plastic. The seat is perforated which serves two functions: provides some flex and lets water drain if the chairs are left out in the rain.

From a comfort standpoint I am actually quite impressed by these chairs. The countoured shape really hugs your body. I find them to be quite comfortable actually. The mesh seat also flexes a bit when you sit down adding to the form fitting nature of the chair.

I would definitely recommend these chairs. Read Less +
